

Company Pars Komponenty s.r.o. protects the provided personal data in accordance with regulations of the Czech Republic and EU (GDPR).

Protection of personal data

By accessing to the web pages of Pars Komponenty s.r.o., as well as by their using and/or by the provision of your own personal data, you confirm that you agree with collecting and processing the personal data according to Law No. 101/2000 Sb, Personal Data Protection, and with effect from 5/25/2018 also in accordance of the General Directive of the European Parliament and the Council (EU) 2016/679 on personal data protection (GDPR), for the purpose of arranging your order, questions or another service provided by this web pages. The consent is provided for a time up to its cancellation. The operator of these web pages acts fully in accordance with the legal regulations, and provided-by-you personal data will be, according to law, protected and used only for the realization of a commercial transaction and improvement of the provided services or for the cases when the law governs or enables the operator to do so.

The operator will never provide your personal data to any third party in any form. Your personal data will be exclusively used for the purpose of realization of an order and also serve for the realization of necessary accounting operations, issuing a tax document, identification of your payment by bank transfer or for a correct delivery of the goods.

In case you use your right and express your non-agreement with registration of your personal data, then the operator of the web pages will remove these data from its database in a necessary range.